November 15, 2026, 10th World Day of the Poor

The theme proposed by Pope Leo XIV for this 10th World Day of the Poor:
THE LORD IS THE REFUGE OF THE POOR (Ps 14:6)

The Holy Father reminds us that we must return to the Word of God to recognize the importance of the poor in the life of the Church.

This Word remains as relevant as ever for every generation, he tells us, because social injustice is still widespread today. The poor are the first to suffer the consequences. The absence of God no longer places people side by side in mutual respect, but rather one above the other under the sign of domination and oppression. Prejudice and indifference surround their causes.

The Church, if it is to be the Church of Christ, must be a Church that makes room for the little ones and walks in poverty alongside the poor. Christians are called not only to seek refuge in God, but also to become, in God, a refuge for others, without distinguishing between those who help and those who are helped.

Justice and Solidarity Team, Archdiocese of Moncton

LOVE IS THE LAW

Jesus made it clear that he did not come to abolish the laws of the Torah, "but to fulfill them" (Matthew 5:17). The life and teachings of Jesus, then, embody all that these laws were intended to be. Jesus is what the living, breathing will of God looks like. This includes compassion for the poor, esteem for women, healing for the sick, and solidarity with the suffering. It means breaking bread with outcasts and embracing little children. It means choosing forgiveness over retribution, the cross over revenge, and cooking breakfast for the friend who betrayed you. As Elton Trueblood put it, "The historic Christian doctrine of the divinity of Christ does not simply mean that Jesus is like God. It is far more radical than that. It means that God is like Jesus."

When Jesus was challenged by the experts on the Law to give an answer for what Scripture is all about, he offered a very straightforward, very Jewish response. Quoting Deuteronomy 6 and Leviticus 19, he replied, "Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind. This is the first and greatest commandment. And the second is like it: Love your neighbor as yourself. All the Law and the Prophets hang on these two commandments" (Matthew 22:37–40).

This is the point of every liberation, every wandering through the desert, every law about oxen and yeast and blood. To love is to honor God and keep God's commandments. Love is the law that liberates slave and slaveholder alike. Love is the ultimate deliverance story, for only love can sustain the sojourner out of Egypt, through the desert, up the mountain, and into the promised land.

The truth is you can bend Scripture to say just about anything you want it to say…. We all go to the text looking for something, and we all have a tendency to find it. So, the question we have to ask ourselves is this: are we reading with the prejudice of love, with Christ as our model, or are we reading with the prejudices of judgment and power, self-interest and greed? Are we seeking to enslave or liberate, burden or set free?...

This is why there are times when the most instructive question to bring to the text is not, What does this say? but, What am I looking for? I suspect Jesus knew this when he said, "Ask and it will be given to you; seek and you will find; knock and the door will be opened to you" (Matthew 7:7).

If you want to do violence in this world, you will always find the weapons. If you want to heal, you will always find the balm. With Scripture, we've been entrusted with some of the most powerful stories ever told. How we harness that power, whether for good or evil, oppression or liberation, changes everything.
(quoted from theologian Rachel Held Evans)
