Exploring Our Faith

SET THE EXAMPLE

Today we begin the holiest week in the Church's calendar, aptly entitled Holy Week. Despite being seen by many Christians as such, it is not Christmas but Easter, which is the highpoint of the Church's liturgical year. In a few days we will celebrate Triduum – Three Days that commemorate the Paschal Mystery of Jesus Christ and move us from Lent to this great season of Easter. Triduum is a three-part continuous liturgy - Holy Thursday, Good Friday and Easter Vigil - each of which highlight a different aspect of the Paschal Mystery. The first part of this liturgy, Holy Thursday, focuses on the Last Supper, celebrating “much of what Catholics hold sacred.”

During that Last Supper, a couple of important actions took place. In sharing this meal with his apostles and asking them to do this in "remembrance of me," Jesus left us the Institution of the Eucharist; the action of washing feet, instituted the Sacrament of Holy Orders. John's account of the Last Supper, heard on Holy Thursday, is the only one which speaks of Jesus washing the feet of his apostles. Interesting that we should hear John's version on Holy Thursday. One would think, as the day commemorates the Institution of the Eucharist, we would hear an account from either of the other three Gospels, each of which includes some version of the narrative from Paul's letter to the Corinthians, proclaimed during the second reading: “This is my Body ... do this in remembrance of me ... my Blood ... as often as you drink it, in remembrance of me.” Clearly, we are meant to pay attention to the foot washing.

What is the significance of foot washing? During Jesus' time, it was a sign of hospitality, extended to guests by the servants of the house upon entry. These were dusty roads people travelled, and feet, generally covered only by sandals, got dirty. I walk a lot – and after a day on my feet, especially during warm weather, my feet get dirty too. It is refreshing to wash them when I arrive home and is often the first thing I do. So, I get it – the need for foot washing.

Yet here, a task generally given to servants, is one that Jesus takes on himself. It is unusual enough that Peter feels the need to initially reject the action – “you will never wash my feet.” In other words, you are my teacher, my master, the Christ. Leave the foot washing for others.

I am the eldest of 7 children. From a young age, I was reminded repeatedly that setting the example fell to me. This Gospel ends with Jesus saying, “So, if I, your Lord and Teacher, have washed your feet, you also ought to wash one another's feet. For I have set you an example, that you also should do as I have done to you.” It's my mother's voice ringing in my ears. If you behave badly, so will they; if you challenge and defy the rules, so will they; if you love them, they will love one another; if you reach out to them, you will all stay connected.

The task of remembering does not only involve eating Bread and drinking Wine. The task of remembering means paying attention to what I have lived, how I have included, how I have healed, how I have forgiven, how I have shown mercy, how I have loved. The task of remembering involves service, and this humbling gesture of washing feet is the best example I can give of what this service means.

Although, because of COVID, we cannot celebrate this profoundly moving ritual this year, the fact that it is service above all to which we are called as Christians, does not change. Today we must ask: how can I best model foot washing?

Food Banks

Holy Family Church - The need is always great for items such as toothpaste, toothbrushes, soap, razors, toilet paper and deodorant. Also, rice, pasta, cereal and paper towels.

Holy Ghost and Immaculate Heart of Mary Churches - We gladly accept whatever is offered but right now, there is a need for facemasks (homemade are great!), cakes of soap, toothbrushes and shampoo. For the children's lunches, we also really need drinking boxes and pudding and fruit cups. Thank you!

The Albert County Food Bank would like to thank the parishioners who made and donated so many absolutely beautiful facemasks! Your time, your talent and your generosity are greatly appreciated!

Did You Know? It's hard to stay awake to the sin and suffering of the world. Even Jesus' disciples failed to keep watch with him in his deep sorrow. But the gospel urges us to keep trying. It asks us to go with Christ to the heart of sorrow and to stand awake and in solidarity with the poor and suffering who are Jesus in disguise. Our culture offers us many escapes, many ways to 'sleep', but it is by encountering those who suffer and by bringing God's love to them, that we come to know Christ and his cross and can look with hope to Resurrection. World Water Day - Valuing Water

We celebrated World Water Day last Monday, March 22nd. We were asked in last week's bulletin to reflect on what water means to us.

Some of the things that may have come to mind are the security of our clean water supply. Remember last summer when no appreciable rain fell for such a long period of time? You might have thought about your use of water and that we can't live without it. How do we protect our water supply and keep it clean?

With the turn of a tap and the press of a lever, water comes and goes, along with any pollutants we add. It is easy to forget how vulnerable we are to disruption of this resource because it seems so reliable and trouble free. Water is not just important; it is essential to our way of life.

Next week we'll have some information on a worldwide movement called Blue Communities.

Celebrating the Year of St. Joseph

On December 8th, 2020 Pope Francis announced a Year of St. Joseph to mark the 150th anniversary of the proclamation by Pope Pius IX of St. Joseph as the Patron of the Universal Church. St. Joseph is also the patron saint of Canada. On Friday, March 19th, the Canadian Conference of Catholic Bishops (CCCB) launched a webpage dedicated to this special memorial year entitled Celebrating the Year of St. Joseph.

A joint initiative of the CCCB's Office for Evangelization and Catechesis, Office for Family and Life, National Liturgy Office and Office nationale de liturgie, the page makes available several resources for use in parishes, religious communities, families and schools; catechetical resources for children, youth and adults; and a series of seven short video reflections, based on the recent Apostolic Letter Patris Corde (With a Father's Heart) highlighting the seven attributes of St. Joseph.

Memorial Gifts are a special way to give to the life and works of the church. These gifts can be made in memory of a loved one and they can also be made to honour a living person.
